TO KILL THE CODLING MOTH

Sam Hazelett, the Local Apple Grower and Prof. Woodbury of Purdue University have been working for two days on an experiment on the Hazelett Orchard, just east of town.

OF GREAT INTEREST EVERYWHERE

Samuel Hazelett, the local apple grower, and Prof. Woodbury of Purdue University, have for the past two days been working in the orchard of Mr. Hazelett, just east of town, on an experiment which is of great interest to horticulturists.

The experiment is made in an attempt to kill the Codling Moth which each year destroys great quantities of apples. The Codling Moth is a small moth which lays an egg on the blossom of the apple or on the blossom end of the apple after the apple has developed. This egg hatches and the moth worm eats its way into the heart of the apple destroying it.

No successful method of killing this moth has been found in this section of the country.

Lately, however, the Washington State Horticulturists have found what they claim to be a method of killing the moth. Their experiments last year, it is claimed, resulted in securing a crop of apples of which 99 per cent were perfect. The experiment which proved so successful in Washington is the one which is being tried here.

Fifteen trees of the Early Yellow Transparent variety were selected for the experiment in the Hazelett orchard. Five of these were treated with the new method, five were treated in the old way and five were left alone. The crop of these trees will be closely watched and the results learned.

The old method was simply spraying the trees with a solution of Arsenate of Lead. The solution was simply thrown on in a mist. This killed most of the moths but did not entirely get rid of them. Under the new system the solution is thrown on the tree in a solid stream and is thrown with great force. Eighty gallons of the solution is used on each tree. The object is to get into each blossom a quantity of the poison.

If the poison is gotten into each blossom, it is said that the moth, when it starts to eat into the apple they get the poison and are killed. The result of the experiment will be closely watched by Putnam County and State Horticulturists.

INJUNCTION IS SUSTAINED

Judge Rawley Rules in Brazil Saloon Case and Makes it Impossible for License to be Granted in Clay Without an Appeal.

Judge Rawley this morning handed down his decision in the now famous Powers saloon license case in Brazil. Judge Fortune, of Terre Haute, had ordered the Auditor of Clay County to grant a license. Judge Rawley issued a temporary restraining order forbidding such action. A demurrer was filed to the complaint and on Saturday Judge Rawley heard the arguments from both sides. He took the case under advisement and gave his decision this morning.

Judge Rawley held that in ruling as he had done Judge Fortune was within his powers. He was not bound to take cognizance of the election held in Brazil, and ruled only on the case as presented to him and under the old statute. But the moment an election was held in Clay County that statute, under which Judge Fortune ruled, became null for the county of Clay. No court or commissioners could grant license. Judge Rawley held that the case as presented to him was quite different from the one presented to Judge Fortune, because he had knowledge of the election in Clay County which took the case from the jurisdiction of the Terre Haute judge. It is probable that the wets will make another attempt to dissolve the injunction.

However, in giving his decision Judge Rawley cited a proposition that may deter the plaintiff in the original suit from further proceedings. The court stated that while it was true that Judge Fortune was not bound to know that an election had taken place in Clay county, the plaintiff Powers was bound to know, and in letting the court rule in his favor under a complaint made void by the election the plaintiff had practiced fraud upon the court.

MAXWELL FOR NEXT RACE

Republicans Seek Candidate to Make Race For Congress in 1910 and Mention Rockville Man.

HON. T. T. MOORE ALSO NAMED

Republicans of the Fifth district are wondering whether or not Howard Maxwell of Rockville, the Republican nominee for congress in this district last year, will make the race again. Mr. Maxwell is telling his friends that he has not yet made up his mind whether he will run. Otis C. Gully of Danville, who was Maxwell's strongest opponent at the last district convention and who opposed Congressman E. S. Holliday feat of Brazil four years ago, but met defeat, is being mentioned as a possible candidate in the Fifth district. The revenue office at Terre Haute supported Maxwell in his last race. He also had the support of the liberal element through the district. Gully was supported by the temperance people.

Republican leaders of the district believe that if Maxwell decides to enter the race, he will get the nomination, and will give Congressman Moss a pretty stiff race. Emmitt F. Branch of Martinsville, who was the speaker of the house of representatives in 1907, is being mentioned as a possible congressional candidate in the Fifth, and it is known that he is considering the matter. Ex-Senator T. T. Moore of Greencastle is another congressional possibility, and it is believed that before the race is far under way the hand of Judge James E. Piety of Terre Haute will be found in the melee.

Peter Foley, Democratic chairman in the Fifth district, says that the Democrats of this district are highly pleased with the administration of Governor Marshall and with the record of their congressman, Ralph W. Moss, of Brazil. "Governor Marshall," said Mr. Foley, "is not only being commended by the Democrats of the Fifth district because of the manner in which he is conducting the affairs of his office but by the Republicans of the district as well. There are many liberal Republicans in the district. The Democrats are pleased particularly with the appointment of Col. C. C. Matson of Greencastle as a member of the state board of Commissioners.—Brazil Times.

Public Opinion

Editor, Greencastle Herald:

I note in your issue of the 3rd, a short account of a sermon preached in your city recently, in which the minister, one of your local pastors, called attention to the fact that the modern healer (presumably the Christian Scientist) fails to come up to the Scriptural test cited in the 16th chapter of Mark's Gospel.

It is a significant fact that our brother omitted from his scriptural citation the words "them that believe". In as much as our Lord's standard of discipleship was the same for all who profess to believe in the Christ, we will leave it to your readers to determine if our good critic and all Christians are not just as amenable under this inexorable law of "signs following" as are the Christian Scientists, who it should be understood make and boast of their present or possible approximation to such a high standard, but merely "press toward the mark."

To what extent the Christian Scientists are today approximating that high standard of spiritual perception and living which according to our Lord's promise means absolute immunity from all the ills that flesh is heir to, can be determined when we stop to consider that by Christians Science treatment practically every known disease has been healed, while, as a further evidence, hundreds of thousands of earth's suffering millions bear unhesitating testimony to moral regeneration as a result of the influence of Christian Science teaching in their lives. Those who hear Rev. Rudy's sermons on Christian Science should read the text book of Christian Science, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy.

SERIOUS ON COUNTY LINE

Saturday's Storm Does Much Damage in Southwest Putnam and in Clay County.

BARN BLOWN DOWN, HORSES KILLED

The violent storm which passed over this city shortly before 4 o'clock Saturday evening while accomplished by one of the heaviest rains ever seen in this city and severe lightning did not develop the high wind which prevailed east and south of the city.

In the vicinity of Asherville and along Big Walnut creek between the city and Greencastle the storm was of the appearance of a cyclone. The storm demolished a large barn on Aaron Grable's farm, a mile and a half northeast of Asherville and killed two horses for him. The horses were in the barn and the cyclone simply tore the structure to pieces and the animals were killed by the falling of timbers.

The large hay barn of Lewis McCullough's, just north of Center School house, was lifted off its foundation by the wind and carried a distance of about three or four feet. The big doors were blown off the barn and the farm had a narrow escape from being struck by the flying doors or fence rails which were being hurled about by the wind.

Rail fences were picked up as if they were so many tooth picks and were scattered in all directions. Reports from Jackson and Van Buren townships are that many rods of rail fences have been scattered by the winds and that the farmers will be kept busy for several weeks repairing their fences. Many trees were also blown down or torn up by the roots especially along Big Walnut.—Brazil News.

Says Greencastle Looks Good

A letter to The Indianapolis News published in that paper last night says:

To the Editor of the News: Sir—I have frequently noticed that our good-natured "wet" friends have often made the assertion that for a town, county or city to go dry is to go dead. During the last four years as I have traveled up and down the State, I have taken the time to study the situation somewhat carefully. I have yet to find a community that went "dry" that has ever repented and "called back" the saloons.

Recently I had occasion to visit Greencastle, county-seat of Putnam County, which went dry by 1,500 majority and I must say that if ever any community did well it was Greencastle and Putnam County. Already the effect upon the future of DePauw University is beginning to assert itself, for what father or mother is going to send their children to a college located in a com-

GRAFTON JOHNSON'S DEAL

Brother of Mrs. James B. Nelson of Greencastle has Options for the Purchase of the Controlling Interest of the Kokomo Rubber Company Plant.

ABOUT $700,000 IS INVOLVED

KOKOMO, Ind., May 11.—Kokomo business circles are greatly interested in negotiations that are under way looking to the sale of the majority of the stock of the Kokomo Rubber Company to Grafton Johnson, of Greencastle. The understanding is that Johnson has practically obtained an option on most of the stock and that a deal transferring it to him will probably be closed in the next day or two. The consideration, it is understood, is $700,000.

The Kokomo rubber plant was organized thirteen years ago, and began business in a modest way. It has prospered from year to year until it is now one of this city's largest manufacturing plants. It is understood that if Johnson buys the plant it will continue under the present management for a period of years, it being stipulated in the contract that D. C. Spraker, who has been president since organization will continue in control.

Grafton Johnson who was at Greencastle today admitted that he had a deal on for the Kokomo rubber plant, but said that it was not closed. He refused to comment on the report that he was to pay $700,000 for the plant, but said that if the deal goes through the management will remain the same as at present and that he will remain at Greencastle. He registered but one objection to reports from Kokomo and that was the reference to him as a "millionaire."

Grafton Johnson is a brother of Mrs. James B. Nelson of this town.

Our Opinion of Law.

The opinion of law held by the people of America is one that is worthy of attention. We have reached the place where we distrust law and judges who administer the law. It may not be the fault of either the law or the courts, but the fact remains that in many instances the law has been interpreted in such a way that the people believe the personal desires and interests of the courts were served rather than the plain law administered. It may or may not be true, but there is certainly a feeling that Judge Fortune of Terre Haute strained the law to benefit the saloon interests of Brazil. It is certainly true that Judge Artman's strained the law to benefit the temperance element in some of his decisions on the circuit bench. We hear good men declare that the supreme court will rule the option law constitutional because of the pressure of public opinion. And we hear on the other side that they will rule it unconstitutional because they are temperance men and Republicans and the local option law is a Republican temperance law. Whether there is any foundation for these beliefs or not, there certainly is the feeling that law is not a matter of fact, a thing to stand regardless of desire and favor, but rather an elastic matter to be stretched and pulled as public opinion, interests with a pull, or the bias of the judges may direct. It is unfortunate that the ruling of the courts has given strength to this view. It is unfortunate that technicality is allowed to defeat justice, the will of the majority and manifest right. Law will some day cease to be binding unless the people can be sure that law is law, not the caprice of courts and judges.

The little presidential boomlet that Mr. Landis is nursing for Governor Marshall may be explained by the fact that they are both loyal sons of "Old Wabash," altho of opposite politics. Mr. Landis is also confident in his own mind that one Bill Taft is to be elected president again in 1912. —Crawfordsville Journal.

And yet it will be remembered that Landis felt in his mind and heart that he was to be elected congressman from that district. Perhaps Landis is not of the prophets, the seventh son of a seventh son. Perhaps even the Crawfordsville Journal doubts Landis' foretelling powers. Lame ducks may be blind ones also.

TRAVEL IN EARLY DAYS.

Hardships that the Grumblers of Today Know Nothing About.

The wigwag Indians who came out to Denver from Tammany Hall traveling on five special trains groused a good deal about the hardships of the journey, but they know nothing about the meaning of such things as compared with the tribulations of our old pioneers.

The modern pilgrim is fat and pudgy from luxurious living, while the old boy was as lean as Cassius and as hungry as a coyote. In the sixties it cost more for meals between the Missouri River and Denver than is now charged for railroad fare and meals added. The run to Denver is now made in something like 15 hours, as against six days in the stage coach period. At one time the fare from the river to Denver was $175, while now it is only $15. The quickest time ever made by stage between Atchison and Denver was four and a half days.

Ben Holliday, owner of the line, once traveled by special coaches from Placerville, Cal., to the Missouri, 2,000 miles, in 12 days and two hours beating the regular day schedule by five days. This feat cost Holliday $20,000, but it was a great advertisement for his line. The stages, when crowded, carried 15 persons, besides great quantities of mail and express.

One of the coaches used on the Overland Line is now in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, and two or three of them still linger in Denver as relics of the splendorous past. After leaving this route they were operated on the Deadwood Line, and were several times captured by Indians and outlaws. Once, when captured by Outlaws, one of the coaches carried $60,000 in gold. In this attack three guards were killed.

Buffalo Bill heard that the old coach had been abandoned and went after it, using it for years in his Wild West show. In London it carried the Prince of Wales, and all the nobles of Europe examined it with interest. On the Fourth of July, 1895, this famous old coach was exhibited with the Wild West show at Concord, N. H., where it was made. The owner and employees of the stage coach factory gave the historic old stage a great deal of attention, and in the parade it bore the sign: "1863—Home Again—1895." There were 153 stations on the old Overland Line, from the river to California, the longest in existence—1,913 miles. The fare was $225, or about 12 cents a mile, which was not considered excessive in those days. —Denver Field and Farm.

Lived 152 Years.

Wm. Parr—England's oldest man—married the third time at 120, worked in the fields till 132 and lived 20 years longer. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright, of Spurluck, Ky., shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16-year-old boy," he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitters. For thirty years kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth. They're a godsend to weak, sickly, rundown or old people. Try them. 50c at the Owl and Red Cross drug stores.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

Thoughts from men of affairs upon questions of the day.

THAT HAPPY FLY.

The musca domestica is doomed. The Merchants Association of New York and various other organizations of divers other cities have organized against him, for he is a vile pest. He is a dread, horrible, insidious, nasty, atrocious, incorrigible, hopeless, useless and altogether superfluous organism. The Merchants' Association has devoted an ominous pamphlet of forty-two pages to him, in every page of which he is arraigned, excoriated, flayed and inveighed against.

He is known as the Fly. He occupies an important and pathetic role in that sweet tale of the spider and the fly. He is spoken of gently and considerately in nursery rhyme and song. But when science gets after him he is dived of his poetic and pretty glamour. He becomes a musca, a musca domestica, with not one solitary decent attribute. He is shown under a microscope as a hideous monster. He is a germ carrier of the most deadly sort. Sometimes one of his gang will lug around with him something like 6,000,000 germs. He has been caught with the goods on at the agricultural experiment station at Storrs, Conn.

An elaborate investigation has been made into the crimes of this little pest for the last few years. He has been taken apart in infinitesimal pieces. Germs were secreted in every nook and cranny of him. Every invisible hair on his feet contained a thousand or so germs. One blue bottle fly that was submitted to the acid test at the Storrs experiment station carried 90,000 bacteria behind his right ear, and every time he wiggled said ear he shed a cloud of germs around about.

The mosquito it not at all in the musca domestica's class when it comes to carrying around bacteria in wholesale lots and spreading a variety of diseases. One mosquito may have a mean way of picking up yellow fever germs and injecting them into the human system, but the musca domestica will pass around about 9,000 different bacteria.

For instance, up in Storrs, Conn., Mr. W. M. Esten and C. J. Mason took apart one fly and searched him through and through with the following results: Acid bacteria, 756,000; rapid liquefying bacteria, 230,000; slow liquefying bacteria, 268,700; bacterium lactis acid, 211,500, and coli-erogenes, 533,500. From only 94 swill barrel flies the same pair of investigators obtained 155,000,000 bacteria; another bunch of swill barrel flies had tucked away in their jeans something like 118,000,000 small germs. Some more or less respectable flies had only 550 germs, but a good husky fly of a certain order was generally found to carry more than 6,000,000.

DAINTY DANCE FLOWERS.

Inexpensive Novelties That are Finding Much Favor, as Prizes.

Cotillon favors that may truly lay claim to originality as well as to artistic excellence are certain to be appreciated these days when there is such an incessant demand for novelty, particularly in all that intends to amuse or divert. Hostesses exhaust their own inventiveness and that of their friends or the professional designer in the effort to secure clever conceits as souvenirs for the cotillon which is now, as it has been for some time past, the favorite dance of society.

Flowers have ever served as emblems for the daintiest and most acceptable of favors and this season witnesses no exception to this fancy. The rose, queen of blossoms in nature's garden, has served as inspiration for some exceptionally pretty conceits which lend a decorative touch at many a fashionable dance this winter and performed further service as an attractive remembrance of the occasion.

It is not the intrinsic value of the cotillon favor that counts with the dancer as its simplicity, its daintiness and artistic charm. Crepe paper has served as the medium for the most successful and clever trifles ever fashioned for the cotillon.

The parasol made of crepe paper in the faintest of shell pink tones is frilled with simulated rose petals and realistic imitations of the popular La France blossom are scattered over the rose lined surface. A knot of pink on the handle presents an effective contrast to the natural hue of the wood.

Sachets and Perfumes.

For the housewife who likes the scent of lavender leaves in her linen closets the cushions of Japanese crepe paper with Oriental decorations are useful and decorative. These cushions are six or eight inches square.

Sandal wood sticks an inch square and five inches long are useful for laying among the curtains and draperies when they are put away in the spring, and the fragrance will remain long after the hangings are unpacked in the autumn.

Oriental perfumes, though considered oppressively sweet by some folks, are greatly in favor with many others, and there are combinations of Oriental scents that are new and exceedingly agreeable.

It is predicted that carnation will be one of the scents particularly approved by fashion in the coming season, and combined with violet is especially good for sachet powder. Of course, violet, with a blending of orris root, and violet and heliotrope in combination are always in favor.

Pretty and Simple Under-Waist.

It is a simple matter to make an under-waist of a straight strip of wide embroidery. The embroidery must be the depth required for the under-waist. Straps of lace or bands of ribbon keep it on the shoulders and it is drawn in to fit by narrow ribbons runs through bending at the top and bottom. At a very small expenditure of trouble and money underwaists can be made thus that will do nicely with the sheerest blouses. Rather never are the handkerchiefs afterwaists and the manner of their making is like this: Three handkerchiefs are taken and cut into triangles from opposite corners, each making two pieces. Three handkerchiefs form a waist, the triangle being fitted into each other, hemstitched points down, until one long piece is formed. Shoulder straps and heading for the ribbon alone are necessary. An unusually pretty underwaist made after the latter fashion had narrow bands of lace insertion put between the points and was sprinkled over with pink rosebuds done in wash embroidery silk and tied with rose ribbons.

To Prepare Oat Meal Bags.

A good formula to follow in making oat meal bags is the following: Oatmeal, two and a half pounds; Florence orris, powdered, half a pound; almond meal, half a pound; old castile soap scraped to a powder, quarter of a pound. Mix and put into muslin bags.

After Twenty Years

By Isa Brackett.

Sir Abbot Sylvester had travelled all over the world trying to seek relief from the heavy burden which had rested on his conscience for the last 20 years.

At last he set sail from Barisal, India and on the 27th of June arrived at Coolidge, his little native town. He stopped at a flourishing hotel over night, nothing with interest changes the village had undergone and was listening with no little amusement to a number of remarks which were made about his old mansion. It seemed that a few tourists, the night before, had come back to the hotel rather late, and in passing the stately old house had seen a light through one of the turret windows.

He was eager to throw open this cold dreary house—altogether too suggestive of the tomb to prove agreeable to him. The next morning he walked briskly through the great gateway. A wilderness that had once been an evergreen park revealed itself in all its uncompromising beauty and loneliness. Wind-blown walks and lawns alike had long since disappeared in a jungle of weeds. There was the stone seat under the popular where he and—ah, well, he wouldn't think of these happy days. They were all gone by, and some day he might be able to atone. "The same thing I've said for the past 20 years," he muttered bitterly to himself.

He reached the huge door and inserted the key he had kept so many years. To his surprise the door was unlocked and easy to open. He walked into the uncarpeted hall and stood wondering. The mantelpiece above the cavernous fire-place and even the smooth faces of the long French mirrors in the drawing-room were gray with dust. Everything about the place looked deserted, but what about those lights the tourists had seen? Here was an adventure!

But the adventure, however, seemed to slip from his mind, for he sat down on the edge of a dusty chair and seemed lost in thought. Twenty years ago that day, in that very room, he had told his wife that he was going away forever, that it was best they should part, and that she could get on without him—as he could without her. There had been stormy words from him, cold, cruel words, and from Martha there had been first mild reproaches, then tears, and finally, when she could bear it no longer, she had swept out of the room like a queen. Ah, how he remembered that day, and the tears trickled down his sunburnt face unheeded.

At last he aroused himself from his reveries and walking aimlessly up the stairs he reached the room where Davie, the manager of his estate, long since dead, had written to him that his wife had died. Yes in that very room, and, covering his face with trembling hands, the old man wept as though his heart would break.

After composing himself as best he could, he reached the attic. It was a huge room, half the height of chests and articles of furniture such as attics are universally constructed to hold. He reached the cupola through a trap-door and found himself in an octagonal superstructure of good size. Many of the window panes were either broken or had fallen out, but the view of the old grounds and the surrounding hills took up most of his thoughts. This was where he and Martha, when they were children, used to climb and play.

He stood there 15 minutes perhaps, when there was a creaking sound below, and after a few moments the trap-door opened cautiously. Before him, with a strange startled look, was a most beautiful girl. She gave one frightened cry, and then darted through the trap-door, Sir Abbot Sylvester following. Through the bedchambers and hall they rushed, she running nimbly as a squirrel, he panting and stumbling after her. When she reached a large oaken door she turned around, and giving him one look of defiance passed through. Sir Abbot paused, breathing heavily and scarcely knowing what to do. He finally opened the door, and lo! there on the couch propped up with pillows was an old woman, the girl kneeling by her side, sobbing. The old woman gazed in wonder at his figure and he gazed back at her. There was a look of recognition on both their faces. The woman's face turned to an ashen hue, and she cried: "Have you at last come back?" It was Martha, and that beautiful girl was their daughter.

Well, it was after 20 years, but who would not give 20 years for such a reconciliation?

Modesty.

"Do you know the Jacksons?" asked a lady of a young man who lived in the neighborhood.

"No, I am not personally acquainted with all the members of the family," he replied. "But I always speak to the dog at the front gate as I go past." —Tit-Bits.

DEPAUW NEWS

ROSE POLY HERE TO-DAY SUPT. COSNER AT INDIANA

DEPAUW EXPECTED TO TAKE THE ENGINEERS INTO CAMP BY SMALL MARGIN.

ONLY FEW GAMES ON SLATE

DePauw meets Rose Poly on McKeen Field today. The team ran a hard practice yesterday afternoon and will do their best today to over shadow the 4 to 0 defeat that Rose Poly left at their doorstep on April 24.

DePauw's defeat on that day was due wholly to costly errors. The local team outbatted the Engineers through the whole contest. With this undesirable feature of the machine working of the team reduced to a minimum if unable to humble Rose Poly; DePauw can at least show up in gull-edge form.

Dope on the Indiana game boasts the local aspirants higher. A class of baseball like the old gold team put up Saturday cannot help but show up any secondary team in the State.

Aside from the postponed games; DePauw has but four scheduled contests left on her slate, Butler, Earlham, Indiana and Wabash. The three latter games are to be played at home.

GYMNASIUM TRANSFORMED

JUNIORS HAVE DECORATED ROOMS FOR "PROM"-PEN-NANTS EVERYWHERE

EVERYTHING READY FOR BIG TIME

As a result of hard work Saturday afternoon and all day Monday the Juniors "Prom" committee under the direction of Batzner has turned the gymnasium into a neatly decorated hall. Pennants and streamers of all colors, colleges and clubs bring the walls into harmony with the bunting decked on ceiling and pillars.

The girls dressing rooms on the east side of the building have been fitted out for a dressing and a refreshment room.

The masquerade will begin this evening at 8:00 o'clock. The entrance will be through the room on the south side of the building.

The room will be gay with their colors and swinging Japanese lanterns and wisteria bowers and everyone predicts that the Juniors and their friends will have a jolly "Prom".

A NEW PLANT WILL PROBABLY BE CONSTRUCTED IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

HEATING PLANT CONTEMPLATED

Superintendent A. J. Cosner, made a trip to Bloomington last Saturday to investigate the lightning and heating plant of the state university in preparation for the improvement and possible reconstruction of the DePauw plant during the coming summer.

The executive committee has had proposals and plans presented by an Indianapolis firm for the installation of an electric lighting plant in connection with the university heating plant.

The proposed reconstruction would give the university night and day electric light service and at the same time utilize the escaping steam from dynamo engine for heating all the buildings on the campus.

A new heating system may be installed called the vacuum system in which the condensed steam from the radiators and steam pipes returns to the engine house by air pressure instead of by mere gravity force as at present.

PROPOSE DEBATE SOCIETIES

MOVEMENT HAS BEEN STARTED AT DEPAUW LOOKING TO WARDS ORGANIZATION

PROF. GOUGH FAVORS THEM

For a long time the students of DePauw have felt the need of debating societies. As a result a movement has been started that has for its object the formation of such organizations. A meeting will be held in Plato Hall Thursday evening to take up the matter.

Professor Gough, head of the department of oratory when asked regarding the matter expressed himself as being decidedly in favor of it.

DePauw students are weak in delivery, says Professor. "They are strong enough intellectually. I would match them against any student body in the country, but in floor work they are not so good. This is especially true as regards their rebuttal work. The reason for it is they do not have enough practice. At Albion they have four literary societies and at Cornell they have eight or ten. The men there debate all year, and the college debate teams are generally the men who have had the benefit of this experience. I should like to see similar organizations started at DePauw. It would strengthen wonderfully.

On Thursday evening all who are interested in this matter are requested to meet in Plato Hall. This will be discussed and if possible an organization will be perfected so that work may be started this year.

EARLHAM TOOK THE TRICK

WALKED AWAY WITH DEPAUW TRACK TEAM BY BIG SCORE.

SOME MEN SHOWED UP WELL

DePauw ran up against a stump over at Richmond Saturday and incidentally lost the track meet to Earlham by a score of 81 to 36. DePauw had hoped to win the meet and at worst. The score was expected by everybody to be more closely margined. But Earlham trotted out her dark horses and the score indicates the effect.

Conrad was Earlham's big man. He carried off 19 points alone, winning in the 100 and 220 yd dashes, the running broad jump and the walker in the running high jump.

Fribley showed up well for DePauw, running Conrad, a close second in the 100 and 220. Hockstetter led all the way in the 2 mile; Sommerville was the real star for the old gold men, taking the mile easily and the half mile after a neck-to-neck run with Winslow of Earlham.

DePauw's relay team took the final event of the meet in the fast time of 2 minutes and 44 seconds.

The results of the meet are as follows:

100-Yard Dash—Conrad (Earlham), first; Fribley (DePauw), second. Time: 1:10 3-5.

1 Mile Run—Sommerville (DePauw), first; J. Furnas (DePauw), second. Time: 4:50 1-5.

120 Yard Hurdle—White (Earlham), first; Schladerman (DePauw), second. Time: 1:16 1-5.

440 Yard Dash—P. Brown (Earlham), first; Fribley (DePauw), second. Time: 5:33 3-5.

830 Yard Run—Sommerville (DePauw), first; Winslow (Earlham), second. Time: 2:08.

220 Yard Dash—Conrad (Earlham), first; Fribley (DePauw), second. Time: 2:33 3-5.

220 Yard Low Hurdle—White (Earlham), first; P. Brown (Earlham), second. Time: 2:27 1-5.

Two Mile Run—Hochstatter (DePauw), and Conrad (Earlham), tied, points divided. Height 5 feet 7 4-5 inches.

Shot Put—Pennington (Earlham), first; Dewey (DePauw), second. Distance, 21 feet 6 one-half inches.

Hammer Throw—Pennington (Earlham), first; A. C. Haworth (Earlham), second. Distance 103 ft 11 inches.

Pole Vault—A. C. Haworth (Earlham), first; Hotchkiss (Earlham), second. Height, 10 feet.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT MADE BY THE FACULTY.

New Classification of College Students is Adopted.

By vote of the Faculty a new classification of College students will go into effect at the beginning of the next academic year. Students will be classified as Undergraduates, Irregular Students, and Special Students. The determination of classification lies wholly with the Committee on Assignment of Studies. In view of the fact that students must register for next Term's work during the week preceeding the final examinations, it is very desirable that all persons who expect Special or Irregular Classification shall apply at once, in order that the committee may act before the official advisers are asked to sign the course blanks for next Term. Students desiring Special or Irregular classification should first apply to Professor Barnes, the Secretary of the Committee. The attention of all persons now having Special classification is called to the fact that their classification as such ends with this year.

DID THEMSELVES PROUD

FORTY STUDENTS SANG THEMSELVES INTO HEARTS OF AUDIENCE.

ANNUAL UNIVERSITY MINSTREL

Forty students sang themselves into the good graces of a large audience last night in Meharry Hall, the occasion being the annual athletic benefit minstrel.

The entertainment throughout was full of clever surprises, catchy songs and local take-offs, but it was the solo work that lifted the whole affair above mediocrity. Professor Kleinsmid had charge of the black-faced artists for the last ten days and through his efforts the entertainment was made a success.

From the very start the play was full of action. McLean dashed upon the stage in a flying toy automobile, while Lockwood rushed in through the fire escape and thumped up the aisle with his numerous boxes and merry widow hat. Gilbert Clippinger acted as interlocutor and Carter, Moran, McLean, Elwell, Cornelius and Lockwood were end-men. The black-faces occupied the front tier of chairs; back of these were seated the "fine coated" gentry or poor white trash.

Although the chorus and ensemble work was good the special features were appreciated most. Elwell "made a hit" in the original "Stung by all the 'Profs' I Know." Dewey as Abe Martin sang well, in "I'll Swan" and the inimitable and only McLean scored his usual success in "Bon Bon Buddie." Cannon and Boyce as gentleman and lady received their share of applause. The climax of the evening was reached when the end-men arose in amazement and pointed to sleeping figure in a front seat. Soon McLean had clambered off the stage, over the seats to where the old man sat. The end-man demanded the name of the gentleman and this gave a chance for a bit of interesting business, the man answering him by singing "The Land of Use to Be". Then the old fellow was induced to totter to the platform where he again sang. Other solos by Moran and McGregor were well received. The proceeds reached the two hundred mark.

D. K. E. TAKES VICTORY

THE GAME WAS ONE OF SERIES FOR PAN-HELLENIC CHAMPIONSHIP.

VINNERS HAVE STRONG TEAM

In beating the Betas by a score of 14 to 2 yesterday, the Dekes won the first division in the Pan-Hellenic baseball league.

The score is a conservative index to the quality of the game. As a whole, the playing was rather loose. The two Beta scores came in the first half of the first inning. Martin, who pitched the game for them, landed up nice ball, but the Dekes found his arm early.

The Delta Kappa Epsilon team is playing good ball this season. Their basemen handle themselves well and their out fielders are sure. They will give some a close race in the finals.

Score by innings:

Beta Theta Pi . 2 0 0 0 0 0 — 2
Delta Kappa E . . 6 0 1 5 2 *—14

Miss Sylvia Walls has returned to her home at Farmersburg after a short visit here with friends. She is out of the School this term on account of serious throat trouble. Her physician thinks she will be able to return to her studies in the music school next September.

The Sorrow Of It.

"It's too bad," observed the man who seemed to be thinking aloud. "What's too bad?" queried the party who had overheard the observation. "That our neighbors always know when we have fried onions for supper, but never get next when we have strawberries and ice cream," explained the noisy thinker.

FORTY TO ONE

In this country there are about FORTY DEATHS TO ONE FIRE. If you have a home or a building you insure it for the limit against fire. But your life which is providing an income for your loved ones is probably inadequately covered by life insurance, if covered at all. Your house may burn — you must die. Provide at once a guarantee of comfort and independence for your wife and loved ones by investing in a standard policy.

Made of Forest Roots

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases, if we would properly investigate them; and, in confirmation of this conviction, he points with pride to the almost marvelous cures effected by his which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach tonic, liver invigorator and blood cleanser known to medical science. Dyspepsia, or indigestion and torpid liver yield to its curative action.

The reason why it cures these and many other affections, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

Not less marvelous, in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements is as is amply attested by thousands of unsolicited testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it, often after many other advertised medicines, and physicians had failed.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native, medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle-wrapper. Don't accept secret nostrums as substitutes for these medicines OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

How to Grow Fat

A Lazy Stomach the Cause of Thinness, Nine Times in Ten.

If you are thin or lean, have scrawny arms and neck, you can't grow fat unless your food properly digests.

People take on flesh in proportion to the nutritious matter which the organs of digestion absorb and pass into the blood.

Just as long as this nutritious matter passes along without being absorbed, just so long will you remain thin.

Perhaps your stomach, bowels and liver need a tonic. If your digestion is not perfect, Mi-o-na tablets will put it right at once.

Mi-o-na will cure indigestion and every conceivable ailment of the stomach promptly. It cures by building and toning up and not by encouraging a tired stomach to continue its shiftless and health destroying habits. It promptly drives away sour stomach; belching of gas, heaviness after eating.

The Red Cross Pharmacy and Owl drug store sell Mi-o-na for 50 cents a large box, and guarantees it to cure indigestion, sea and car sickness, vomiting of pregnancy and all stomach diseases and distress, or money back.

Mi-o-na is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

HYOMEI

37 Foot Anaconda.

Solitaire.

Sitting alone through the passing hours,
Bent over the cards he smiles and glowers,
And shuffles and cuts and deals and plays,

And never tires of the baffling ways of the game he is blindly playing.

He shuffles and cuts and deals and plays,

And over and over, until the days, Lengthen to years, and the years weave on,

And still he plays, for the cards may run

His way in the game he's playing.

Once more and ever he ruffles the pack,

And he puts one here and he takes one back,

And, even as Fate, goes sightless on,

Trusting to chance in the ceaseless spawn

Of the cards he is playing—

Is he different from God in his brave solitaire

Who sits on high in the Game whose care

Is to shuffle and Cut and Deal the Hearts

Of Creation's Cards in their wondrous parts,

In the Game He's forever Playing?

Fire escapes are being placed on East College, West College, Middle College, Florence Hall and Music Hall. Work has been continuing for several days. The completion of the present work will make fire protection complete on practically every building on the campus as all the main buildings have steel stair escapes except Minshall Laboratory, which is supposed to be fire proof. The contract for the present fire escape additions was placed with the Up-to-Date Manufacturing Company of Terre Haute.

A number of tax payers on the road north of town were in Greencastle today and were saying some very short things about the condition of the road. They declare that they are not well kept nor well repaired and that too much money is being spent for the results that appear on the roads. Culverts are too narrow, and in bad repair, and not repaired with sufficient haste after rains which damage them. There seems to be a well organized movement to demand better road repair work on the north roads.

When Capt. W. P. Wimmer, who lives just west of Bainbridge, drove into Bainbridge this morning on his way to buy some mules, he heard a noise under the buggy seat. Upon investigation the Captain found a Brown Leghorn hen crouched up in one corner of the buggy. Captain Wimmer recognized the hen as one of his choice layers and not wanting to lose her he got a piece of string and tied one end around her leg fastened her into the buggy and proceeded on his way. When he reached the Harry Brown farm just south of Bainbridge the Captain was forced to stop again for biddy was raising a terrible disturbance under the seat. When he investigated this time he learned why the hen had selected to take a buggy ride with him. In the corner of the buggy was a new laid egg and Mrs. Hen was cackling in great shape in honor of the event. The captain put the egg where it would not be broken and proceeded on his way.

How Accidents Occur.

Twelve per cent. of all the accidents to people in cities happen on the streets. Statistics show that the average citizen, if he should meet with one hundred serious misadventures on his walks abroad, would slip on the ice, and fall down under other circumstances, sixty-eight times he would get hurt ten times in boarding or dismounting from cars; he would be knocked down, or otherwise injured by horses and wagons six times; he would be bitten by dogs four times, and he would step disastrously upon banana peels twice. The remaining mishaps would be miscellaneous, and might include one or two collisions with motor cars, which have taken the place of bicycles as perils to the pedestrian.—Pearson's Magazine.

Curious Legal Custom.

A curious custom is in vogue in many parts of India. If a dispute arises between two landowners two holes are dug close together, in each of which defendant's and plaintiff's lawyers have to place a leg. They have to remain thus until either one of them is exhausted or complains of being bitten by insects, when he is judged to be defeated and his employer loses his case.

Sanitary.

Health Officer—"Do you always wash your hands when you mix the dough?"

Baker—"Vor sure yet; you dink I goes 'round mit dat dirty flour stick-in' on me; you bed I vash mine hants."

ROADS AND ROAD MAKING

GOOD ROADS AND BUSINESS.

Large Sums Expended for Temporary Improvements.

The people of the United States are paying at least $500,000,000 a year to the bad roads fund. In other words, the excessive cost, the loss of time, the wear and tear on horses, vehicles, and equipment in transporting the products of the American farms, forests, mills and mines to the railroad stations, or to the markets, aggregates more than half a billion dollars each year says James B. McKie in Good Roads.

It has been estimated by the Department of Agriculture that the cost of transporting the products of the United States, by wagon, to the railroad stations aggregates more than $900,000,000 a year, and that practically two-thirds of that sum might be saved by universal good roads. In this country it costs an average of twenty-five cents per ton per mile to carry our products to market by wagon, while in France the cost does not exceed eight or ten cents per mile.

The greatest fault in the present road system is that the money expended is spent very largely upon temporary work, or in make-shift construction. This is necessarily so, because all of the roads must be kept open and passable, even if they are not good. I believe that this condition exists in most of the states of the Union, and as long as it exists, three-fourths of the money expended on roads will be lost. Temporary repairs made in the summer are frequently washed out in the winter, and the work has to be done over again in the spring.

In the Interest of Good Roads.

A practical step in the direction of good roads has been taken by the creation of a new profession—highway engineering. This new profession was first recognized in the educational world by the Rhode Island College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts when, in the autumn of 1904, it adopted a full four years' course in highway engineering for the completion of which the degree of Bachelor of Science is given. Two of the senior class of the present year have taken the course and have qualified as highway engineers. The course is attracting considerable endorsement of the best highway experts of the country. There can be no doubt of the need of good highways and of the future demand for men who are thoroughly trained as highway engineers. The course offered by the Rhode Island college is practical as well as theoretical, and graduates will be prepared to fill satisfactorily the positions that are sure to open.—Farmer's Voice.

Permanence or Makeshift.

"Good roads at $200 a mile" is the heading of an article that has recently been the rounds of the press, and which suggests that the bargain counter baillus, which is, perhaps, the most expensive pest of the age, is attacking the vitality of the proposition for permanent road building. That a good road can be built in any ordinary country for $200 a mile—which means 62½ cents a rod—is an illusion. That the road drag, so popular at present throughout the middle west, is a road maker at an annual cost of one cent a rod, is another illusion which Mr. King, the father of the drag, attempts to dispel when he says that "this drag is not a machine for road building, but an instrument for keeping in usable condition a road that has already been properly built up."

Well constructed roads may be maintained at some such cost as is suggested, but they must first be properly built, and provided with adequate drainage, solid foundation and good surface. And this calls for an expenditure greater than $200 per mile.—Good Roads.

Another Chance to Economize.

The New York Times recently stated that the apparently large balance in trade in favor of the country is practically offset by an estimated expenditure of $300,000,000 a year made by American tourists to Europe.

It has been estimated that bad roads cost our farmers annually $600,000,000 in the extra expense of hauling their products, and can it not be presumed that at least one-half of this $300,000,000 spent by pleasure seekers abroad might also be saved to our people by making home attractive.

Scottish Pavements.

City Engineer Thompson, of Seattle, Wash., describes in a letter the prevailing pavements of Glasgow, Scotland. They are of granite blocks from two to three inches deep, each so carefully dressed that they have the appearance when laid of vitrified brick. To avoid noise, longitudinal strips of smooth stone, far enough apart to fit the wheels of a vehicle, are laid on each side of the street.—Good Roads Magazine.

In Keeping Butter.

Butter that is to be kept for any length of time should be washed with water that has been thoroughly boiled and cooled down to 58 degrees.

Excepting labor and hives, there is practically no expense attached to the bee industry.
